FARNAM ARRESTED
NUMEROUS TIMES

Was Once Sentenced to Louisiana Penitentiary for Term of Five Years.

That W. H. Farnam, of numerous aliases, is a crook of the first water now seems established by a letter received at police headquarters yesterday stating that he is well known to the National Bureau of Criminal Identification, which has in its files a list of almost continuous arrests of Farnam since 1900, and shows that he has spent a term in the penitentiary. In 1909 he was arrested in Cincinnati on a charge of forging several checks, but the case was compromised. As W. H. Farnam, he was arrested in St. Louis, but the case was ignored by the grand jury. Again under the name of William Feeney, he was arrested in 1902 in Chicago for passing bogus checks, but was afterwards released on his own recognizance. In 1905, under several aliases, he was arrested in New Orleans on numerous charges, including burglary, but was dismissed. Later he was arrested on a charge of grand larceny and forgery, and was sentenced to the Louisiana State Penitentiary for three years on the second charge. He got out of the penitentiary before the expiration of his term, for in 1906 he was arrested in Milwaukee for again passing bogus checks.

Now he is wanted in Austin, Tex., for which place extradition papers have already been secured.

Detective Corwin, of the National Bankers' Protective Association, has come from Texas to take the fugitive back with him, but is now detained in Hot Springs, from which point he is to take back another man. The latter prisoner was taken from the detective on a train from Hot Springs by a county constable, who wanted him for jumping a bond bill. The constable returned to Richmond and received authority to go back and get his man.

The National Bureau of Criminal Identification comprises as members all the members of the International Police Association, to which Major Werner belongs.

Paul Washington Sent On.
Paul Washington, the colored boy suspected of breaking into the residence of Lynwood Woodson and stealing therefrom a coat and a pair of shoes, appeared in Police Court yesterday morning and was sent on to the grand jury. The articles alleged to have been stolen were found in his possession.

Paying Poll Taxes.
Deputy City Treasurer Isaac Hield has been busy during the past week receiving poll taxes from persons who had not hitherto paid. The time for payment in order to qualify one to vote in the November election, or either the city or State primary, will expire next Saturday, and those who do not settle by that time will be debarred from voting.

DECREE FOR SALE
OF MUCH VINEGAR

Baltimore Firm Sent Misbranded Goods to Retail Merchant in Virginia.

Under a decree entered yesterday morning in the United States District Court, twenty-five barrels of misbranded vinegar, now held by the government officials, will be sold at public auction to-morrow. The right to sell follows a litigation which has lasted for several months, during which the Baltimore Manufacturing Company, of Baltimore, has endeavored to establish its right to make the shipment.

The seizure was made by inspectors in Petersburg, and the illegal consignment was billed to H. P. Harrison & Company, of that city. The case is one of the first of the kind which has been brought to a solution through the courts, and is especially interesting to retailers in Petersburg, Richmond and other Virginia cities. The court's decree positively establishes the fact that the goods were shipped under misrepresentation.

Following the seizure a condemnation suit was entered by the government.

SLASHES HUSBAND'S EYE

Upbraided Her for Being Late and She Used a Butcher Knife.

Preston Mills, colored, of 811 State Street, lost a leg yesterday evening as the result of an argument with his wife. He returned home for supper, but his wife was out, and he waited patiently when, after an absence of some time, she returned, he began upbraiding her for being out when he was tired and hungry. She told him that she had been called to a party, and he told her that he had been called to a party. She told him that she had been called to a party, and he told her that he had been called to a party. PUSHING ROAD WORK

Captain Wilson to Open His Bids for New Construction in Culpeper.

State Highway Commissioner Wilson was busy in his office yesterday, preparing to start work on several new roads in different parts of the State. Two forces of surveyors have just come in from the country, and were making plans for new construction, and the commissioner said that in a few days, two additional convict forces would be sent out. One will go to Culpeper to work on several roads leading out from Brandy Station and the other to the Culpeper country to construct a road from Roanoke city to the Botetourt line. The bids for the Culpeper roads will be opened on May 6, and the work will begin shortly thereafter. Captain Wilson said that he expects to start a large number of new roads in different sections during the coming month.

SAYS SHE DRANK
OUNCE OF POISON

Woman Told Doctor She Took Laudanum, but He Did Not Seem to Be Convinced.

Because of alleged bad conduct of her husband, Mrs. Ollie Bloodworth, of 2241-2 West Cary Street, took about an ounce of laudanum, she declared, shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. When Dr. Carr, of the city ambulance, responded to the call, he found Mrs. Bloodworth in an extremely nervous condition, but without apparent signs of laudanum poison. Mrs. Bloodworth insisted that she had taken the poison, although Dr. Carr couldn't see it that way.

Her husband saw her take the laudanum bottle and place it to her lips and apparently drank it. She tried to take another dose from a bottle containing carbolic acid, but he snatched it from her, defeating her evident purpose. She told him that she had got as much as she wanted, and he, becoming frightened, tried a home remedy and then had the ambulance called.

Dr. Carr, before he left, gave her some quieting medicine and ordered that she be watched to prevent her falling to sleep or from repeating the attempt.

Mrs. Bloodworth is about thirty-five years old, and is the mother of several children.

CORNER-STONE AT HIGHLAND PARK

Northside Lodge Conducts Masonic Ceremony—Eggleston and Maddox Speak.

Under the auspices of Northside Lodge of Masons, No. 232, the cornerstone of the new Highland Park public school was laid yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. A flag was presented to the school by the Woman's Relief Corps of the Daughters of the American Revolution. It was tendered them for the purpose by Edgar Allan Poe, Jr., of Washington.

Joseph D. Eggleston, Jr., Superintendent of Public Instruction, made the principal address. He spoke of free schools and their benefits to the people in general. He showed that they were not in reality free, but supported by the people for the good of the children of the masses. County Superintendent W. A. Maddox, of the county, also spoke, and on practically the same subject, advocating a higher and broader scope of education.

After the speeches and the program rendered by the scholars, the Masonic ceremonies were performed with the lodge in charge. The ceremony was laid with all the ceremony that attends Masonic exercises of this kind. There were about 700 people present. For the school, Beulah, George W. Balkie had charge of the arrangements.

News of Manchester

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch.

1102 Hull Street.

Dallas Graves, a colored brickman, was struck by an engine in the yards of the Atlantic Coast Line in this city last night. His leg was broken and his back was injured. He was carried to Richmond and then removed to the Retreat for the Sick, where he was held in comfortable for the night, though at a late hour the doctors had not fully determined on the extent of his injuries.

No one was present at the time, and it is not known just how the accident happened. He was at work making up the trains as usual. It is thought that he stepped backward in front of one engine while handling the cars before another. The broken leg seems to be his most serious injury.

May Settle Here.

R. B. Bardwell, president of the Third National Bank, of Pittsfield, Mass., is in the city visiting James M. Bellwood. Mrs. Bardwell accompanies him. This is Mr. Bardwell's first trip to the South, and he is very much pleased. Though he has made no definite arrangements, it is probable that before he leaves for the North he will take preliminary steps toward establishing a banking business in this city. As this is the least crowded of the several lines of business in the city, those who have become acquainted with Mr. Bardwell seem to think that he will within the next few months be a citizen of Manchester.

Last Day of Washington's Celebration

Devoted to Farmers.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

WASHINGTON, N. C., April 24.—Saturday, the last day of Greater Washington's Jubilee Week, was observed as Farmers' Day. Large numbers of representative farmers from Beaufort, Pamlico, Hyde, Martin, Pitt, Washington and other counties were present, viewing the mammoth displays of farming machinery taking in the sights of the city and seeking amusement at the shows. The principal feature of the day was a parade fully a mile long, composed of all the different farming machines on wheels, drawn by gigantic steam traction engines, numerous floats representing farming interests in Washington and Beaufort counties.

The Jubilee Week has proved a great success.
